

New Portrait of Lincoln Said to be Best Likeness

By LOUIS LUDLOW.
(News-Times Washington Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—A portrait of Abraham Lincoln, sketched from life and said to be the most perfect likeness of Lincoln in existence anywhere in the world, and in fact, the only likeness that is absolutely true to life has been placed this week in the main corridor of the senate wing of the capitol. Tourists who pass by it in a steady stream find it a never ending source of attraction, for it is one of the most striking art works of the capitol.

Freeman Thorp, the artist who painted the portrait is an Ohio man. He was born in Geneva, Ohio, 75 years ago. When Thorp was a lad, Lincoln stopped at Geneva on his way to be inaugurated as president of the United States. Thorp was almost as tall as Lincoln, and by looking over the heads of the assembled people he was able to make a good sketch of the president-elect from life. Later he made a second life sketch at Gettysburg, Pa., when Lincoln delivered the immortal Gettysburg address. During the civil war Thorp served in the second Ohio cavalry. For a time he resided at Findlay, Ohio.

First Exhibit.
The portrait which is now exhibited for the first time is the product of forty-eight years of intermittent labor. Forty-eight years ago, distinguished senators who had been closely associated with Lincoln, realizing there was no good portrait of him extant drawn from life or even painted from photographs by any noted artist, had a studio erected on the roof of the senate wing of the capitol, and Thorp, then a rising young portrait painter, was requested by those senators to occupy the studio. Through the decades that followed, Thorp, while painting the portraits of prominent Americans, studied the different photographs of Lincoln that had been made, discussing them and the sketches he had made of the senators, representatives, and others who knew Lincoln and whose impressions of him were as were Thorp's from conversation with him and from personal observation. Finally, a short time ago, when the senate had learned that Thorp's portrait was nearing completion, it passed a resolution, providing that it should be purchased and placed in the senate wing of the capitol.

Pleasant Expression.
There is one feature of the Thorp portrait that differentiates it from the generally accepted likenesses of Lincoln. Usually Lincoln pictures represent him with a very melancholy cast of countenance, but the Thorp portrait shows him with a rather pleasant expression—certainly nothing suggestive of melancholy. When Lincoln talked, his face lighted up and he tried to represent him as he appeared on such occasions," said the artist.

"Lincoln's leading trait, as I know him, was his thorough unselfishness," added Mr. Thorp. "His story was wonderfully convincing and he won men by the compelling force of his logic. His English was perfect and he never made use of a superfluous word."

Says Pile Remedy Worth $100.00 a Box

I have had itching piles ever since my earliest recollection. I am 55 years old and have suffered terribly. I have tried many remedies and doctors, but no cure. About 8 weeks ago I saw your ad for Peterson's Ointment. The first application stopped all itching, and in three days all soreness. I have only used one box and consider I am cured, not feeling any return of the trouble for 3 weeks. You have my grateful, heartfelt thanks, and may everyone that has this trouble see this and give your ointment, that is worth a hundred dollars or more a box, a trial. Sincerely yours, A. Newth, Columbus, Ohio.

Peterson's Ointment for Piles, Hemorrhoids and old sores is only 25 cents a box at all druggists. Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.
